23 Galwey Street, Leederville

Historic Character Cottage

Nestled moments from the beating heart of Leederville, this delightful circa 1905 character cottage, crafted from weatherboard and iron, effortlessly blends charming heritage features with the conveniences of contemporary living.

Step inside, where high ceilings and jarrah floorboards whisper tales of a bygone era. The grand entry hall extends its welcome, setting the stage for interiors bathed in natural light, where timber doors and windows frame bright, whitewashed walls.

Three spacious bedrooms, two adorned with charming fireplaces, beckon you to retreat. Stay comfortable throughout the seasons with two reverse cycle aircon units - one in the main bedroom, the other in the front lounge, where a feature fireplace becomes the focal point for intimate gatherings.

The kitchen is ready for your culinary adventures, with an upright stainless steel gas oven, a welcoming breakfast bar, and a dining area that becomes the heart of animated conversations. The generous front veranda and sunny rear timber deck provide two external havens to enjoy moments of tranquillity or occasions with friends and family.

Low maintenance, this lock-and-leave property will be a dream for downsizers or a city-fringe sanctuary for professionals. Yet, the magic of this residence extends beyond its walls. Stroll leisurely to Charles Veryard
